3rd BONUS – Green Shot

I hope you enjoyed our last 2 bonuses: Go Pro – by Eric Worre and Tax Savings by Sandy Botkin. Did you use the special link so you can create a Free Forever account with Hurdlr to track and report all your business expenses?

Today's bonuses will a very helpful tool that I use almost every day. It's a very small program to install on your PC computer to allow you to snap pictures of anything on your screen. It's called Green Shot. You don't have to save the entire screen, you can just draw a picture around what you want to save.

Example: When purchasing something for business (a new keyboard, paper, business cards, flyers, drop cards, etc.) take a screen shot of that expense and save it in a folder called "business-expenses". Then when you post that expense in Hudlr, add that screen shot to that business-expense. You can draw circles, boxes, arrows and for sure type TEXT on the clip to further explain HOW it is a business expense.

But you can also use Green Shot to make a clipping of personal bills when you pay them: water bill, electric bill, dentist bill, etc. – and save them in a separate folder.

Another tip is naming these JPG or PNG clippings to better organize them. If you pay the water bill of $75.32 on Nov 18, 2021 here is the file name structure to use WaterBill-2021-11-18\_75.32.jpg

Put all your bills in the same folder and it's very easy to sort this folder with all the bills to each company together, in chronological order, and just by looking at the filename you can see the amount paid without having to open the picture file.
